

Dagens Samhälle – we write for Sweden’s most important decision makers

Dagens Samhälle is the newspaper devoted to keeping track of everything happening in public sector markets. Policy, economy, and public affairs. We write to policy-makers, managers, and specialists working in municipal and county administrations, governmental agencies and authorities, and government-owned companies. But we also write for the companies within the growing welfare sector – private operators of schools, hospitals, and care facilities.

We highlight the most interesting news, conduct in-depth analyses, and present the most initiated insights into the country’s welfare sector. Through Dagens Samhälle, readers meet the people behind the decisions, running the operations, delivering the services, and exercising the power.
